Brian Fisher

A New, Original Tale of suspense, mystery, and conflict, in which a champion is called upon to save a village from a monstrous plague, only to face a final reckoning he could never have foreseen . . .

RAVANSTOWN, A VILLAGE AT THE BRINK OF DOOM...

First, some parts of town had suffered a night of razing and burning. Second, a large, reddish-scaled form lumbered unscathed through the smoke and flames that same night. Third, thunderous stomps headed off up the pass to the Dark Meadow. And last, the thunderous stomps were made by a man in a drab cloak, no doubt the dragon, in guise, heading back to the Dark Meadow, that eerie and dreaded grassy land.

THEY SUMMON A HERO TO KILL A DRAGON...

His arrival in the village earlier that morning had brought hails,
